Aerial View of Bagnell Dam and Lake of the Ozarks, Missouri

THE LAKE OF THE OZARKS, winding into the Ozark Mountains for 125 miles through six counties, with 95 square miles of sparkling water and a scenic shoreline of 1,300 miles, is the new Middle-west mecca for tourists and summer colonists. It is one of the world's largest wholly artificial bodies of water; created by Bagnell Dam, a hydro-electric power plant of Union Electric Light and Power Company's System.
